This professional Sanelli potato peeler tool with 7 cm stainless steel blade is not a common kitchen tool. First of all, the blade has a high hardness (54-56 HRC) and has good flexibility, which gives it a high chopping power and a very long life. The convex shape of the blade was designed specifically for professional use, ensuring effective support when considerable effort is required in use. Furthermore, the blade is not afraid of chipping and is very easy to sharpen, therefore ideal for continuous and intensive use. The handle has an ergonomic design, exclusive to the Sanelli brand, the result of studies carried out at qualified research institutes and verified through computer simulations. The ergonomics of the handle help relieve fatigue during prolonged use and offer superior safety
