The naturally raw effect of the raw material, unglazed, then treated with particular firing procedures, in order to make the surface soft to the touch.

Fade Maison presents the new Biscuit collection in Stoneware, with a taut shape with raised edge, according to current table furnishing trends.

Entirely handmade, with a light note of color, each piece has its own characteristic that makes it unique, underlining the craftsmanship of the workmanship.

The Biscuit line is suitable for the traditional oven, the microwave oven and for washing in the dishwasher
